Hospitals Best Video Locations, Hotels Next, Motels Last Choice

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y., Aug 22—Herbert R. Bush, general manager of Transvision, Inc., here, challenges the popular conception that motels are the best locations for co-ossidered TV sets. In his book he’s third in the list of locations—hospitals, hot-els, motels.

Bush, whose firm makes sets and installs them completely wired and wired in hotels, hospitals, and motels, which usually provide the most convenient and best possible locations. Moreover, the operator need not fear that the rooms will be rented only temporarily and that the sets may be removed. The operators can arrange to replace their sets while they are in use.

Bush believes that there are other locations where video sets have done well in hotels.

The following is from the Transvision head office:

New Rochelle, N.Y., Aug. 22—Herbert R. Bush, general manager of Transvision, Inc., here, challenges the popular conception that motels are the best locations for co-ossidered TV sets. In his book he’s third in the list of locations—hospitals, hot-els, motels.

Bush, whose firm makes sets and installs them completely wired and wired in hotels, hospitals, and motels, which usually provide the most convenient and best possible locations. Moreover, the operator need not fear that the rooms will be rented only temporarily and that the sets may be removed. The operators can arrange to replace their sets while they are in use.

Bush believes that there are other locations where video sets have done well in hotels.

The following is from the Transvision head office:

New Rochelle, N.Y., Aug. 22—Herbert R. Bush, general manager of Transvision, Inc., here, challenges the popular conception that motels are the best locations for co-ossidered TV sets. In his book he’s third in the list of locations—hospitals, hot-els, motels.

Bush, whose firm makes sets and installs them completely wired and wired in hotels, hospitals, and motels, which usually provide the most convenient and best possible locations. Moreover, the operator need not fear that the rooms will be rented only temporarily and that the sets may be removed. The operators can arrange to replace their sets while they are in use.

Bush believes that there are other locations where video sets have done well in hotels.

The following is from the Transvision head office:

New Rochelle, N.Y., Aug. 22—Herbert R. Bush, general manager of Transvision, Inc., here, challenges the popular conception that motels are the best locations for co-ossidered TV sets. In his book he’s third in the list of locations—hospitals, hot-els, motels.

Bush, whose firm makes sets and installs them completely wired and wired in hotels, hospitals, and motels, which usually provide the most convenient and best possible locations. Moreover, the operator need not fear that the rooms will be rented only temporarily and that the sets may be removed. The operators can arrange to replace their sets while they are in use.

Bush believes that there are other locations where video sets have done well in hotels.

The following is from the Transvision head office:

New Rochelle, N.Y., Aug. 22—Herbert R. Bush, general manager of Transvision, Inc., here, challenges the popular conception that motels are the best locations for co-ossidered TV sets. In his book he’s third in the list of locations—hospitals, hot-els, motels.

Bush, whose firm makes sets and installs them completely wired and wired in hotels, hospitals, and motels, which usually provide the most convenient and best possible locations. Moreover, the operator need not fear that the rooms will be rented only temporarily and that the sets may be removed. The operators can arrange to replace their sets while they are in use.

Bush believes that there are other locations where video sets have done well in hotels.

The following is from the Transvision head office:

New Rochelle, N.Y., Aug. 22—Herbert R. Bush, general manager of Transvision, Inc., here, challenges the popular conception that motels are the best locations for co-ossidered TV sets. In his book he’s third in the list of locations—hospitals, hot-els, motels.

Bush, whose firm makes sets and installs them completely wired and wired in hotels, hospitals, and motels, which usually provide the most convenient and best possible locations. Moreover, the operator need not fear that the rooms will be rented only temporarily and that the sets may be removed. The operators can arrange to replace their sets while they are in use.

Bush believes that there are other locations where video sets have done well in hotels.

The following is from the Transvision head office:

New Rochelle, N.Y., Aug. 22—Herbert R. Bush, general manager of Transvision, Inc., here, challenges the popular conception that motels are the best locations for co-ossidered TV sets. In his book he’s third in the list of locations—hospitals, hot-els, motels.

Bush, whose firm makes sets and installs them completely wired and wired in hotels, hospitals, and motels, which usually provide the most convenient and best possible locations. Moreover, the operator need not fear that the rooms will be rented only temporarily and that the sets may be removed. The operators can arrange to replace their sets while they are in use.

Bush believes that there are other locations where video sets have done well in hotels.